Caregiver and Child Community Resources

CHILD ABUSE & NEGLECT
Prevention Board

The Parenting Inside Out (PIO) program works to support the connection between a child and their parent that is incarcerated and build parenting skills. As a part of this program in Wisconsin, we are providing this packet of county and community resources that can help when caring for and raising a child. We hope that incarcerated parents and caregivers will find it useful.

Five for Families is one program that could be a beneficial resource for your family. It teaches you about five strengths that can benefit family relationships and help children develop into strong people. The site also has a map with Family Resource Centers located across the state.

This project was supported by the Wisconsin Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board and the Women & Wellbeing in Wisconsin & the World (4W) Initiative at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, in collaboration with the Wisconsin Department of Corrections.

Special thanks to Evelyn Coker, Miranda Dorsey, Annie Hedges, Sarah Jensen, Bailey Kusilek, and Kayla Markus for their contributions.
