The Fidelity Bonding Program offers 6 months of free bonding support to businesses across the country to lower their risk when hiring applicants who have been incarcerated.

Employers sometimes view formerly incarcerated people as potentially untrustworthy workers. Insurance companies may designate them as being “not bondable” for job honesty. The Federal Bonding Program can help eliminate this barrier free of charge. This fidelity bond protects Employers against loss of property or money due to theft, forgery, or embezzlement.

The bond amount is typically $5,000, but it can be higher. The bond is usually for six months, but could go longer.

...and it takes just a few minutes to certify a new hire! Bonds are issued instantly to be in effect the day the new employee starts work.

There is no limit to the number of employees who may be eligible for bonding at one time. Any type of employer (for profit, non-profit or government) can use the program. Additionally, the Federal Bond can be issued even if you already have a formerly incarcerated employee. The employer can also request a bond to transfer or promote employees to a new job within the company.

Bonding can:

- ▶ Reduce your risk when you hire formerly incarcerated people.
- ▶ Provide 6 months of FREE insurance against employee theft.
- ▶ Be obtained quickly and easily by just a phone call to confirm your hire.

To bond a formerly incarcerated new hire today (at no-cost to you)
