

Fair Shake Mission

Fair Shake is dedicated to reducing the recidivism rate through personal and community focused ownership and engagement opportunities for inmates and former felons in connection with families, employers, property managers, corrections and the community.

Why Fair Shake?

Walking away from prison and returning to the community is just the first step in restarting your life after incarceration. From there any number of overwhelming challenges may occur. This could include finding employment and securing housing, paying restitution or fines, and developing and restoring relationships. Central to all of these challenges, and all too often overlooked or ignored, is developing and sustaining your self-confidence, your motivation and your determination, and discovering or maintaining a positive outlook. The challenges can then amplify when coupled with adjusting from the low-tech isolation of prison into today's often overwhelming, yet essential, electronic world!

Fair Shake sees the value in all of these pursuits and has developed an interactive blend of electronic tools combined with reentry, education and employment resources, to help you develop your reentry plan. We offer non-traditional assistance focusing on responsibility, tenacity, positive and realistic thinking and self-empowerment to support your pro-social commitments to engage in society, technology and employment. Fair Shake encourages formerly and currently incarcerated people, and related stakeholders, to participate in your successful reentry.

About Me
 It's good to be back but I have had a few challenges. While in prison I learned a lot about what I can become and have new desires and goals. I am through trying to take shortcuts, not only am I unwilling to take that risk but am also morally against some of my previous shortcuts. Through my skills, previous employment, and education you can see I am very interested in computers and while on that path I hope to help pay for college for my daughter.
