Welcome to Probation and Parole!

We hope you find this Reentry Resource Guide helpful for a smooth transition to community supervision. You will review your parole agreement prior to your release. You will also be working with a Probation and Parole officer to create a case plan identifying objectives and goals that will aid you in your long-term success.

If you are assigned a Reentry Specialist, as part of the 60/60 Reentry Program, your parole officer and reentry specialist will work together to ensure the best possible outcome for your transition to community supervision.

We look forward to working with you on this next chapter of your life!

Letter from the Director

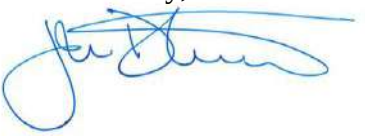
Congratulations on your upcoming release! I'm excited for you and the opportunity you have earned.

I won't pretend that your journey to this point has been easy or that the road ahead won't be without challenges and hardships. Without struggle there is no progress. But it's important to understand you won't be on this journey alone.

I hope you'll make the best use of the opportunity in front of you by taking advantage of the resources in place to help you. Reach out when you need help and don't give up. Your potential isn't determined by your past. It won't be easy, but it will be worth it.

Please know we are here to help you work through the challenges you encounter on your journey. I wish you the best, with hope for your success! You can do this.

Sincerely,



Josh D. Tewalt
Director

Apprenticeship Information

What is a Registered Apprenticeship?
Registered Apprenticeship is a highly flexible training and workforce development model that combines on-the-job learning, related instruction and paid work experience. Apprenticeship will prepare and train our work force to meet industry demands and deliver on the promise to hire Idahoans first!

The construction industry is just one example of industries that offer apprenticeships. Apprenticeships are also available in advanced manufacturing, automotive industries, healthcare, information technology and geospatial technology. Unlike a four-year degree program at a university where you pay, apprenticeships pay you while you train for well-paying jobs with promising futures.

Interesting Facts about Registered Apprenticeships:

- Is one of the oldest and most portable industry credentials, which makes you eligible to work anywhere you can land a job for which you qualify
- Offers wage progression on an increasing scale
- Provides on-the-job learning industry driven skills that make you more competitive in the labor market
- Provides an opportunity to convert completed registered apprenticeship training into college credit and degrees at participating colleges and other postsecondary institutions
- Offers training and certifications that meet industry standards

Interested in a Registered Apprenticeship?

Have you completed any of the formal classes offered by IDOC during your incarceration (construction, electrical, Microsoft Office Specialist, janitorial, or other courses)?

Have you worked for Idaho Correctional Industries during your incarceration?

Have you been enrolled in the Federal DOL Apprenticeship program during your training?

If so, would you like to continue with your Apprenticeship when released?

If the answer to any of these questions is yes, or if you are interested in continuing with your apprenticeship, you need to contact the Idaho Department of Labor for more information about the U.S. Department of Labor Registered Apprenticeship program.

IDOC Community Mentorship Program

Mentors are community volunteers from around the state who will help you:

- Set and meet goals
- Problem-solve and make good decisions
- Introduce you to other supports and people
- Find a job or further your education
- Teach you skills
- Introduce you to pro-social networks and activities.

The Process is Pretty Simple…

- Complete a Request for Mentor and submit to facility VRC or case manager about 30-90 days before your release.
- Once a mentor is assigned you should get an e-mail from the Program Manager (if you have e-mail) about who your mentor is. If you don't have e-mail, the VRC will let you know.
- You will then be provided with an initial phone call to your mentor from a staff phone to start the conversation about what you will need upon release.
- Communication can continue via phone, e-mail, or letter. If you are housed in a CRC, mentors may visit with approval from facility head.
- Upon release, you will continue to meet with your mentor and, together with your PO, develop a plan and work towards a successful transition.
- If you are released without having a mentor, you can still get a mentor while on supervision. Discuss it with your PO or request one through the IDOC website.

Notes

Parting Message

Congratulations on your upcoming release and opportunity for parole! The Reentry Committee believes in your ability to do well, not only on parole, but in life. There may be times that are difficult, overwhelming, and you might have thoughts about giving up. However, this is a normal part of success, and learning how to appropriately "power through" the things life may throw your way. This is a huge opportunity to prove to yourself that you are capable, more powerful than you think, and made for success. Remember, you are not alone, and to let those who want to help you succeed, help.

The Reentry Guide was created because we believe in you and want to support you in your next journey. We hope this helps give you confidence and empowers you as you reintegrate into the community and back with your loved ones. Please be willing to ask for help, seek advice, and try out new things. You have too much potential to give up on yourself! With integrity, accountability, and a willingness to learn from your mistakes, you will be able to combat any self-doubt, negative self- talk, or bad decision making.

We are excited for your next chapter and hope the best for you.

The Reentry Committee
